Mobile Phone Cartoon

Design your own cartoon that describes the environmental benefits of recycling mobile phones. Cartoons usually have a hero, villain or conflict and make a point in a few short scenes.

Instructions

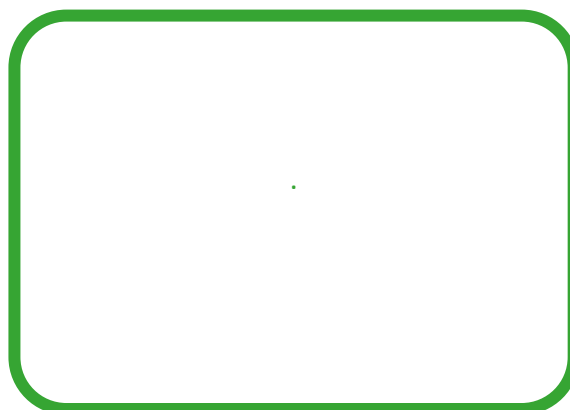

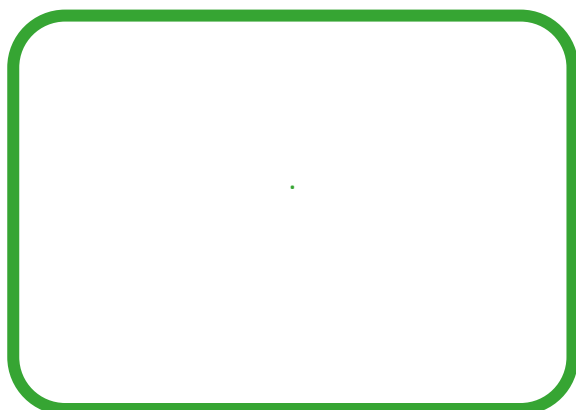

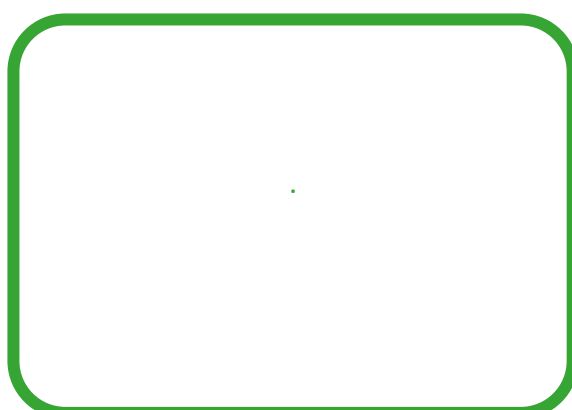

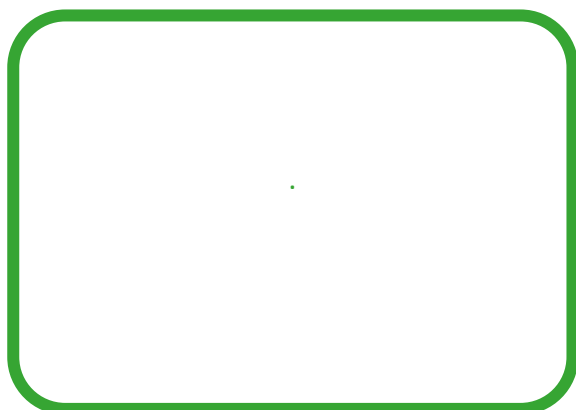

1. Create the storyline. Discuss your ideas for the story in a group. Write down your ideas. You can use dot points to outline the main idea. What is the point of the story? Is it funny? Does it make sense? Once you have an idea, make a quick sketch.
2. Figure out how many panels are needed for the story and what will be in each panel. Draw in your images, leaving space for text.
3. Add text. The text can be a speech bubble, thought bubble or an exclamation. Thought balloons show when people are thinking in cartoons. Word balloons show where people speak in cartoons.

4. If desired, colour in the images. Remember good drawing is important but good writing is the key to getting the point across.
